

"DREAM PEDDLER" PRECEDES AWARDING OF DIPLOMAS TO 69 AT BENSELEM HIGH SCHOOL; NUMEROUS AWARDS ARE GIVEN

Tribute Paid To Horace Mann, "Father" of Public Schools

FINE COSTUMING

The Cornwells P. T. A. Cup Is Received by Edna May Vansant

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 5—Attendants at the 16th annual commencement program of Bensalem Township high school, last evening, viewed a project entitled "The Dream Peddler"; listened to special musical selections; witnessed the bestowal of diplomas to a class totalling 69, and likewise saw numerous awards given for meritorious work or outstanding characteristics.

The project, in six episodes, well portrayed: A dream of faith, "Joan of Arc"; a dream of power, "Queen Elizabeth"; a dream of freedom, "Elder Brewster and Pilgrims"; a dream of song, "Stephen Collins Foster"; and a dream of education, "Horace Mann," with a tribute to Mann culminating in the presentation.

The costuming of the participants, portraying periods throughout various centuries; the lightning effects, and the manner in which each student from the grades on through the high school portrayed the assigned roles, elicited congratulations from the entire assemblage. The project which followed the procession by the high school orchestra, and the invocation by the Rev. Arthur F. Gibson, Eddington, opened with a carnival air, the players in this scene singing "Come to the Fair." Upon the arrival of the strange old man who revealed himself as "The Dream Peddler" with "wares such as no one else may sell . . . some of which may be bought for a song, others which cannot be bought with a King's ransom," the trend changed from the carnival spirit, with each episode revealing how the principals chose wisely, making their dreams come true, even though through sacrifice.

The dream of faith on the part of Joan of Arc for victory for France, brought her peace of mind and satisfaction, even though it led to death at the stake. Queen Elizabeth's dream of power was followed by wise use of power she eventually found within her hand. The third episode showed the Pilgrims on the rock-bound coast of New England, whence they had been led by Elder Brewster, they having risked everything for a dream, seeking freedom to worship God. The catching of the dream of song by Stephen Foster was portrayed by presentation of a number of his melodies, sung by a chorus costumed after the days of the early South. Horace Mann's faith in the public school, which led to free education for all, was followed by a fitting tribute to the memory of that educator, it being shown how he succeeded beyond his fondest dream.

Advice of the "Dream Peddler" as he gave freely to those who could see the magic of his pack, included: "You must learn to live your dreams, for learning is the fulfilling of dreams." In paying tribute to Horace Mann, in the closing setting, graduates of the class of 1940, Bensalem high school, placed flowers at the "statue" of the man who laid the foundation for free public schools. These "clients" (the graduates) of the one who gave up a law career, voiced appreciation for "this great inner builder of our nation's soul," they representing the fulfillment of Mann's great dream. Then with the re-appearance of the "dream peddler," the graduates chose from the pack a diploma, quoting from Horace Mann "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity."

The diplomas were presented to the 69 young women and young men by

July 4th Committee To Hold Important Meeting

The Independence Day Celebration Committee for Bristol and All The Adjacent Communities will meet tonight in the assembly room of the Municipal Building at eight o'clock. The meeting tonight is an extremely important one and every member of the general committee, and the chairmen of the sub-committees are urged to attend.

It is now just about one month until the date of the big celebration, and intensive work will have to start with the meeting tonight. Reports are to be heard tonight from each of the chairmen and from these reports, a definite program will begin to take shape.

It is also planned to start the active solicitation of funds immediately following the meeting tonight. It is therefore important that all committees which have been named for solicitation, be present at the meeting tonight.

A committee to solicit contributions from third ward residents will be named at the meeting tonight. The naming of this committee was postponed last week.

Every effort is to be made to keep the celebration, this year, on as high a standard as the one last year. This can only be done if the general committee has the fullest co-operation of all residents.

Many have shown a decided eagerness to aid, this year, and they state that this is a most opportune time to stage a patriotic celebration and to give a practical demonstration of the Americanism of the residents of this area.

The committee desires to get the plans under good headway at the meeting tonight.

St. Thomas Students Are Given Legion Medals

American Legion citizenship medals were awarded at special exercises at St. Thomas Aquinas parochial school, Croydon, this morning. These medals symbolizing leadership, scholarship, honor, etc., were awarded to Martha Hayes and Charles Elliott.

The singing of patriotic airs was also a feature.

The formal closing exercises of the school will take place on Sunday next at the nine o'clock mass. There will be a play staged in the afternoon at three o'clock in the school auditorium.

COMPLETES COURSE

J. H. LaRue, son of Mr. and Mrs. George LaRue, has returned to his home in Bristol Township, after graduating from Harrisburg Academy, Junior College of Business Training.

Cabinet Changes

Washington, June 4. IT IS fully expected that within a short time the President will make changes in his Cabinet amounting to a partial reorganization. These have been in contemplation for a considerable period. One may be made before this article gets into print. At any rate, the New Dealers themselves now forecast a shakeup.

IT is high time. Three of the governmental departments—War, Navy and Commerce—practically have been headless for two years. One other—Labor—has had a head but functions feebly. So relatively dominating is the Roosevelt personality that this situation, damaging as it is, might have gone on

BRISTOL MAN GETS TERM IN JAIL FOR SHOOTING HIS WIFE

John E. Warner Sentenced To Serve 3 1/2 to 7 Years at Solitary Confinement and Labor

Judge Gives Him Severe Lecture and Brands Him Murderer at Heart

DOYLESTOWN, June 5—Judge Calvin S. Boyer yesterday sentenced John E. Warner, Bristol silk hosiery knitter, to serve 3 1/2 to 7 years at solitary confinement and labor in the Eastern State Penitentiary, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill his 27-year-old wife, Jessie, at their Bath street home on the afternoon of November 12, 1939.

How near the defendant escaped being charged with murder came out in the testimony yesterday, with Judges Boyer and Keller seated on the bench.

Mrs. Warner testified that her husband fired three shots at her from a .32 calibre revolver, one bullet lodging near the spine and paralyzing her partly for the rest of her life, and two others going through an arm.

The defendant charged that his wife had been running around with other

Paris, June 5—Cable communication between Paris and New York was suddenly disrupted today with the wireless facilities remaining as the only outlet.

Captured Soldiers

En Route To Berlin

With the German Army in Belgium, June 5—Captured soldiers of the British Expeditionary Force and the French army, started their march to Berlin today.

They poured out of the old World War battle fields by the countless thousands.

Behind them lay Ypres, ravaged as in the last war. The famed Mennin gate still stands, but the extent of the fierce fighting which raged for some days shows in the locality.

The Ypres Cemetery escaped unscathed, but the bridge approaching the town was blown up.

Strangely, there is little evidence of fighting at Ghent.

The city of Bruges remained untouched. It was from Belgian army headquarters here that King Leopold surrendered. Ostend was damaged by bombs.

One Killed in Train Wreck

Johnsburg, June 5—One crew member was killed and two others were reported injured today in the wreck of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo passenger flyer and a north-bound freight on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, two miles east of Johnsburg.

The dead man was James MacFarland, of New York.

Homer Jones Dies While Visiting at Florence

Homer G. Jones, aged 51, who made his home with Oliver Hobbs, at 333 Cleveland street, died yesterday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Earl Coper, Florence, N. J., where he had been visiting for the past three weeks.

Death was due to a heart attack, Mr. Jones being in ill health for many years. He was a member of the Junior Order of American Mechanics of Delaware City, Del., where he formerly resided.

The Rev. Welsh, of Florence, will conduct the service at Slack's funeral home, Burlington, N. J., on Saturday at two p. m. Burial is to be made in Florence, N. J., and friends may call on Friday evening between the hours of seven and nine.

WILL MAKE SURGICAL DRESSINGS IN BRISTOL

Red Cross Workers and All Interested to Meet at The Community House

4 1/2 DAYS PER WEEK

Surgical dressings for those wounded in the holocaust in Europe, are to be made in Bristol, under sponsorship of Bristol Branch of the American Red Cross.

Beginning on Monday next, at the Community House, all interested are invited to help make dressings, between the hours of 10 and 12, and two and four. Competent teachers and a number of members of the local Red Cross have volunteered services, and the general public is asked to help in this cause. A number of local members have been studying at Red Cross headquarters in Philadelphia.

It is planned to conduct one work 4 1/2 days a week. The need is urgent, and dressings will be shipped as fast as possible.

Sewing is underway at headquarters, 120 Mill street, with a member always in attendance to direct those desirous of sewing. Knitting is also being done.

Volunteers for both sock making and sweaters are much needed. On Tuesdays from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 3 p. m. Miss Elizabeth Scott will be in charge; while on Fridays from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 3 p. m., Mrs. Clarence Moyer will help those who desire to learn to knit. Mrs. Moyer can also be reached at her home on North Radcliffe street, where work can be obtained.

J. Howard Pew, chairman of European war relief committee, recently said:

"For the second time in our lives, a war-torn world turns to America for leadership in those works of mercy and charity on which depends our hope for the survival of Christian civilization. In the measure in which we shall render those works we shall deserve a favorable answer to the nation."

Sarah Ellis is Awarded Grundy Medal As 57th Class Graduates

JAYNE LYNCH IS SECOND

Grand Theatre Filled For The Affair; Project Is "Pan-American Union"

Two cousins, Sarah Ellis and Jayne Lynch, ran a nip-and-tuck race for honor student in the graduating class of the Bristol high school. Last night Miss Ellis was awarded the Grundy medal for highest honors when the 57th annual commencement exercises were held in the Grand Theatre. Miss Ellis' average for the four-year course was 93.964, while the average of Miss Lynch was 93.062. The small difference in the averages gives a clear indication of the closeness of the race; the two girls ran throughout the entire four-year high school course.

The school authorities have never awarded a second prize, but due to the small difference between the averages of the two girls, they decided that Miss Lynch was entitled to receive some recognition for her efforts. She was presented with a group of choice books. The presentations of the Grundy medal and the books were made by Doron Green, president of the school board.

For third honors there was another exceedingly close contest. Miss Anna Warwick's average was 92.177, while the average of Frank De Moia was 92.178. Both of the two were listed as third honor student on the program for the evening.

The Grand Theatre was filled to capacity as the exercises of the evening opened with the 86 members of the graduating class marching down the center aisle of the theatre and taking their places upon the stage as the high school orchestra gave a processional.

Following the invocation by the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, there was the salute

To Open New Furniture Store Here Tomorrow

Factors-To-You Furniture Company, after 15 years in business at 225 Mill street, have moved to larger quarters at 220 Mill street, where the grand opening will be held tomorrow.

The new store, which is more than three times larger than the former headquarters of this local business establishment, has been completely redecorated and renovated for the opening. Situated in the building occupied several years ago by the Montgomery Ward Company, more than 10,000 square feet of floor space has been utilized by Factors-To-You for the display of new and modern furniture and hundreds of home furnishings.

"We plan to carry complete stocks of furniture at all times and the policies which led to 15 successful years of business at our former location will be maintained," a spokesman for the company stated. "We feel now that we have one of the largest and finest furniture stores in this section of the country."

Both the first floor of the new store and the basement have been completely remodeled for Factors-To-You and suites of furniture and hundreds of other items of furniture for the home have been appropriately displayed.

Free souvenirs will be given free to all the ladies who visit the store tomorrow, during the grand opening program. The management points out that the ladies will not have to make purchases to be entitled to their souvenirs.

AUTHOR READS PRIZE WINNING COMPOSITION

Miss Nancy Phillips Presents Essay: "Democracy Vs. Dictatorship"

AT H. S. GRADUATION

The essay winning the prize of $10 offered by the Mothers Association of the Bristol public schools, was read at the commencement exercises, last night, by the author, Miss Nancy Phillips.

"Democracy vs. Dictatorship"

By Nancy Phillips
Of course, no really good citizen of the United States would ever think of advocating a dictatorship, but, because such monstrosities of government do exist, we must realize this fact and make the best of it. Certainly, the dictatorship which exists in Italy has been decidedly beneficial to that country and its people; but only through the oppression of an innocent nation, Ethiopia, has Italy become more prosperous. When we consider the tyrannical form of Nazi terrorism which exists in Germany, and the leech-like hold that the Communists have on the people of Russia, we can not but feel pity and sincere sympathy for the people living in those war-torn countries.

Long before the present war had really begun in earnest, the inhabitants of Germany and Russia, and in some instances even Italy, had felt the sting of the lash that was constantly held over them. Think of America if its people were not permitted to listen to certain radio programs or to see certain motion pictures. In Europe there are only minor hardships. The people have to have their necessary food and clothing, furniture and equipment rationed out to them as the government sees fit.

NOT A NEW WEAPON

The Fifth Column is much in the public eye of late, ever since fear-some prospective victims of the aggressor have learned to profit by the tragic experience of the small European nations which were overwhelmed so quickly and with so little resistance that the onlooker has become convinced of the presence of enemy forces within the conquered countries.

The scheme is so far from new that one of the synonyms of this device of warfare is the Trojan horse, of which every schoolboy has heard, the contraption which won in a jiffy a war which had raged for ten years. Even the most casual student of history will call to mind many other incidents in history in which were exercised the age-old strategy of boring from within. The failure of any nation to recognize the existence of such a plan is inexcusable. It is old stuff.

Fifty years ago, Berliners were thunderstruck at the discovery that a Russian baron, Wessilinski, was the owner and conductor of a newspaper published in the German capital, and that the connection of the baron with the enterprise had been maintained for years with the utmost secrecy. Coupled with the discovery of the identity of the publisher was an equally startling one, that the Russian baron's wife was a friend of the German Countess Waldersee.

The Fifth Column is a new expression which came into the language out of the late Spanish civil war, but the idea is so ancient that there should be surprise it can continue to be insidious.

INVENTIVE GENIUS

Inventive genius is already at work in the cause of national defense. From it, there is said to be pouring into Washington many suggestions, of which these are samples: Parachute bombs. Hundreds of these would be dropped in front of the approaching enemy, which would be expected to fly into them and be obligingly annihilated.

Magic grease. This would be put into the barrels of rifles and cannon, enabling bullets and shells to travel twenty times faster and twenty times farther.

Liquid cement. This, sprayed on attacking enemy troops, would harden at once. Enemy soldiers, stopped in their tracks, could then be taken prisoner by chipping off the cement or left to statuesque deaths.

It was a correspondent somewhere in the battle area who, looking over a section where fighting had raged, picked up a lot of pebbles, which turned out to be of cement. And the conclusion was drawn that the Germans were running short of ammunition and had turned to manufacturing shrapnel out of cement.

So why should not some inspired American genius develop that idea into a liquid cement to turn mobile armies into concrete fixtures?

The feature address of a Kansas woman's club meeting was entitled "What a Dime Will Buy, and it is reasonable to suppose that none of the members arrived home late from that one."

"Hitler with invading armies," says a headline, and while he is with the invading armies there is hope.

In a trade organ, a manufacturer advertises "Buttons 10% off." Surely his wife will resent this.

LeRoy Johnson, recipient of the boy's medal, underwent an operation yesterday, and his award will be presented to him today in the hospital.

The J. Hamilton Bushnell courtesy award, was presented by Henry Hunt, the 1939 recipient, to Charles Vansant, Walter Fortnum, president of the alumni association, gave the alumni awards to the girl and boy in the senior class who were most outstanding in athletics. Recipients were Thelma Vandegrift and Robert Whyte.

Miss Cecelia Snyder, high school principal, announced the following winners and presented the prizes: Frances Stuhlgraber and Charles Mudie, tie as runners-up in points for the P. T. A. trophy, these awards being given by P. T. A., and P. O. S. of A.; Emily Willard, interest on scholarship fund, also magazine subscription, for rating highest in scholarship; Edna May Vansant and Margie Lou Palmer, medals as tie for second place, their scholastic record being but slightly less than the leader; Frances Stuhlgraber and Edna May Vansant, tie for King Theatre Guild award, for outstanding work in dramatics; Jack Scott, gold medal for excellent work in music, this being the gift of a friend of the school; gold medal to Margaret Pickersill, and silver medal to Regina Keyes, for proficiency in typing, the prizes being from Taylor Business School, Philadelphia.

The gift of the class to the school was a sum of money for a trophy case, this being presented by Charles Mudie, class president, to Mr. Faust for the school.

"Mignonette Overture" (Baumann) was a selection by the high school orchestra; "The Blind Ploughman," a vocal solo by John H. Paist, accompanied by Miss Grace E. Paist; chorus, "Bensalem," senior class, Miss Edna May Vansant accompanying; benediction, the Rev. Arthur B. Sargis, Edgington; recessional, "Our National Honor," orchestra.

Son For John Roosevelt

Boston, June 5.—Ann Clark Roosevelt, wife of John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, today gave birth to a 7-lb., 9-oz. baby boy, at Boston Lying-In Hospital. Both mother and baby are reportedly doing well. The name of the boy will be Haven Roosevelt.

Germany Unleashes Offensive On Paris

Paris, June 5.—Hurling a curtain of fire, mass infantry attacks and waves of diving bombers, Germany unleashed her "grand offensive" against Paris today on a 100-mile front.

In a gigantic effort for a quick victory, Chancellor Hitler released his legions into a new western front struggle that may decide the fate of Paris.

The new German drive began with stunning suddenness at four a. m., started southward between the French coast and the Laon-Soissons route.

French military spokesmen stated the attack began with an artillery bombardment, followed by diving bombers and mass infantry attacks.

"The great battle has started again," the spokesman said.

"It is too early yet to obtain details or even an impression of what is going on."

"When I telephone the high command at 9:30 a. m. they had no precise information. In contrast to the tactics at the Meuse, the attack seemed to be based upon artillery, diving bombers and infantry."

"The enemy does not appear to have used any armored elements as yet. The infantry attacks were started in the middle of the Somme River and in the region east of the Oise River."

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the death toll resulting from the German air raid on Paris, Monday, amounted to 254, with 652 injured.

Plan To Evacuate Children

London, June 5.—Plans for the next evacuation of the British children to unspecified points in the Dominions were revealed today as Nazi Germany launched an offensive against Paris, Le Havre and Cherbourg.

While initial reports in London indicated that Hitler's drive had been launched with incredible speed, Geoffrey Shakespeare, Parliamentary Secretary for the Dominion, told the House of Commons that such evacuation is receiving "urgent consideration" by the Government.

(Editor's Note: In his speech yesterday, Prime Minister Churchill stated that even if England were subjugated, the empire would fight until the new world comes to the aid of the old. This Nazi Germany interpreted as an admission that Britain plans transfer of her seat of operation to Canada.)

British advisors said the fight extends from Abbeville on the French coast to the region of Plesnes.

men while he worked at night. She denied this. She testified that she went out on occasions with "friends of her husband," but she admitted that she received a bouquet from a former boyfriend after she had been hit on the top of the head with a monkey-wrench by her husband while they were out riding in their automobile, two weeks before the shooting.

Warner, who has had six attacks of appendicitis since his incarceration in the Bucks County Prison, testified that he had no intention of killing his wife. He said: "I thought that if she saw the revolver which I borrowed from a friend, she would be scared."

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Boyer remarked:

"Had your gun aim been just a trifle better you would have committed murder and be on trial for your life. It is your good fortune that you are not here for murder in the first degree. At heart you are a murderer of the first degree. It was only an accident that you are not on the way to the electric chair today. There must be two theories in this case; one that you are not mentally responsible, and if you are mentally responsible, then you are a murderer. Your purpose was not a sudden frenzy, for you made previous attempts. You intended to kill or you didn't care. Morally you are before this court as a murderer, for you aimed three shots at your wife, each one intending to kill her."

The defendant stated on the witness stand that he hired a private detective to trail his wife after he found out that she had been going out with other men.

Mrs. Warner spent four months in the hospital, lying between life and death. A physician testified that in his opinion she will never wholly regain her health.

Will Make Surgical Dressings in Bristol

tion's unanimous prayer for deliverance from the horrors of the struggle that is fast engulfing humanity.

"The American people are overwhelmingly determined that we must not be involved in this war if it is humanly possible to keep out. Our influence in directing the world back into the ways of peace when the trial is over will be the greater in proportion as we shall now do the works of mercy and of charity. We are best beyond compare with the necessary resources and with the means to make them available for the alleviation of suffering; and as our means are great, so our duty is urgent. In our American Red Cross, we have a tested and perfected organization through which to mobilize our resources, our productivity, our good will and our human sympathies. Of its 3700 chapters there is at least one in every county in the United States."

Every day the demand grows greater for surgical dressings among the thousands wounded in the terrific conflict. Bristol is anxious to do her share and asks that those women who find it possible get into touch with Mrs. Theodore B. Megargee, telephone Bristol 2920.

Larry Fotin And His Band Are Now At Willow Grove

Larry Fotin and his band boys are entrenched in the Willow Grove dance casino for the month of June, making mellow music for dance enthusiasts every night except Sundays and Mondays. This band, the Las Vegas and Clarence Fuhrman's orchestras were the three winners of the pre-season voting by dancers at Willow Grove Park on Saturday nights during late April and May and as a result each of these bands will play a month's engagement in the park's beautiful new ballroom this summer.

Frankie Schluth, ever popular emcee at Willow Grove Park, has started the summer out with an even larger number of weird costumes than in previous years. Every Sunday he presents a brand new stage show of top-flight vaudeville talent to audiences in the music pavilion at three, seven and nine p. m.

This Saturday, at eight p. m., the fourth of a series of free concerts by school bands will be given in the music pavilion by the Upper Moreland High School Band. This band played several numbers in the famous Willow Grove band shell on Memorial Day, in conjunction with the patriotic exercises conducted there by the American Legion. This forerunner of their playing gave promise of a splendid concert on June 8th.

The park's spacious roller rink is now on summer schedule, open every afternoon and evening throughout the week.

Enjoy Trip on "Show-Boat"

A group of fifty from this section, including members of Bristol Rotary Club and their guests, accompanied 1100 others on a "show-boat" ride down the Delaware River to a point below Philadelphia, last evening.

The trip was arranged by the service clubs of Burlington and Riverside, N. J., as a benefit for underprivileged children.

Leaving Burlington at 8.30 the party enjoyed the cruise, motion pictures on the sun-deck, several acts of a review, and dancing.

A "skeleton" meeting is arranged for Thursday at 12.15 at the Keystone Hotel, for members of Rotary unable to make the trip of last evening.

ernment sees fit. The boys and girls of Germany and Russia did not have an Easter outfit this year, nor will they have one next year. However, these things, unimportant though they may seem, symbolize the whole principle of dictatorship. The dictator is the ruler, and the people are his serfs.

Yesterday, I read an article in the "Reader's Digest," an ironical article on the meaning of the various "isms." Socialism—If a person has two cows, he keeps one and gives one to the government.

Nazi-ism—If a person has two cows, the government kills him and keeps the cows.

Communism—If a person has two cows, he gives them to the government, and the government sells him some milk.

I laughed at these definitions, yet after I thought about them, I realized that there was more truth and reason there than meets the eye. These three were not the only ones I thought about, however. There was also a definition of New Dealism that made me think.

New Dealism—If a man has two cows, he kills one, milks the other, and pours the milk down the drain.

So, you see, Democracy, too, has its faults.

Here in the United States, we have unemployment, labor disputes, rumors of Nazi and communistic elements, Oakties in the West, Sharecroppers in the South, and Dead-End Kids in the East. All these flaws in our system of Democratic government must be remedied, and will be remedied. Our country is perhaps the most powerful in the world, yet it is but a child compared to some of the countries of Europe. It has developed rapidly, and during that process of rapid development, some unexpected difficulties have arisen.

When the citizens of the United States think of the heart-breaking conditions in Europe at this time, they should thank God for their blessings and pray for continued peace in the United States.

The heart-rending cry of a child, frightened at night by an air-raid warning; the expression on the mother's face as she stands at the door, watching the small figure of her son trudging down the road to school with a gas mask slung over his arm; the sight of buildings demolished by bombs and fire—sometimes the wounded men; disease, lice, dirt, vermin, and hunger—these are the penalties of war and dictatorship.

A child of the United States may go to the movies, munch a candy bar, and watch Shirley Temple spread her good cheer and happiness across the screen, while a child of Europe is lying, horribly mangled, on a bomb-torn street of a country ruled by a dictator.

We of the United States have a constitution, a government of the people, ruled by the people and for the people; and we do not want it to perish from the earth because of a dictatorial government. Therefore, let us pray for peace and everlasting Democracy.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Robert Cummings, Laraine Day and Jean Muir form the triangular figures of "And One Was Beautiful," powerful society story based on the novel by Alice Duer Miller, which comes to the Grand screen for today. The story deals with two sisters, one beautiful but selfish, the other tomboyish but loyal. Both meet and fall in love with the same man. Through a series of dramatic circumstances he goes to prison to protect the older girl, which leaves the younger torn between loyalty to her sister and the desire to save the man she loves.

Cummings, who recently scored in a comedy role opposite Sonja Henie in "Everything Happens at Night," plays the hero of the tale; the younger sister is enacted by Laraine Day.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Ellen Drew and Robert Paige, young film players who have attained success within the past few years, are seen together for the first time, hitting a new high for fine performances, in "Women Without Names," the Paramount drama scheduled for today at the Bristol Theatre.

Miss Drew is the comely girl who advanced from work in a drive-in stand in Hollywood to featured roles in a short time.

Edgar Wallace, author of "The Mind of Mr. Reeder" upon which the Bristol Theatre's current attraction, "The Mysterious Mr. Reeder," is based, has been called the world's most prolific writer. He has been known to turn out a novel in 48 hours.

RITZ THEATRE

Look out! The "cons" are on a rampage! Thrills thunder across the screen... as terror flares in the "Big House"! Two thousand hate-crazed men scent freedom... and one man without fear defies their guns and bars their escape from the Big House!

John Littel, Barton MacLane, Rochelle Hudson and Glenn Ford headline the cast of Columbia's vivid "Men Without Souls," due to open today at the Theatre. Littel portrays a straight-shooting minister who tries to win the trust of the "cons", especially the friendship of their leader, Barton MacLane.

The Great Game of Politics

FOR example, the Navy Department really has been headless for nearly six years. For fully three years before his death the late Secretary Swanson was incapacitated by illness. After his death, Mr. Roosevelt for many months refrained from naming his successor. Finally, he appointed the acting Secretary, Mr. Edison, fully aware that he had been selected by Boss Hague as his gubernatorial candidate, that his tenure would be temporary and the position was being used for a political "buildup." The feud in the War Department between Secretary Woodring and Assistant Secretary Johnson has been public property for at least two years. It has divided the bureau heads in their allegiance, created endless friction and made for awkwardness, embarrassment, inefficiency.

WHY the President, who frequently has acted as if his Secretary of War did not exist, has so long delayed action here is hard to explain. A few weeks ago he had steeled himself to the point of moving. Undoubtedly he made an offer of the navy post to Col. Frank Knox and would have offered the war office to ex-Governor Landon. When Mr. Landon, in advance, expressed disapproval of the "coalition" idea, and it was generally criticized as a political move in the third-term interest, that idea was abandoned. Mr. Roosevelt was greatly annoyed, and it has taken two weeks to get him again to the point of action. Actually, with the Republicans avoiding the transparent effort to take them into camp, it isn't easy to find an outstanding man for either War or Navy Department. But, undoubtedly, the President is trying.

SO far as labor is concerned, Madame Perkins has been a good deal maligned. She is a lot better than she has been pictured. Nevertheless, she is not acceptable to either labor faction, which, in itself, ought to be a tribute to her but is not because her leaning, like other Administrationists, has been toward the CIO and not rigidly impartial. It is a fact that the labor leaders generally have a contemptuous attitude toward her and the New Dealers have been anxious for quite a while to supplant her with someone "worth more to us." They think they have the President in the frame of mind "to give her the air," but there are those who doubt it. Here, too, the President's difficulty is to find a successor who would not be unacceptable to one labor faction or both.

OF course, the Department of Commerce has been just as headless as the Navy for nearly two years. Mr. Harry Hopkins, after he had made a mess of the WPA, was put into the Cabinet with a great fanfare of New Deal trumpets. Since then he has been ill most of the time and the department has been—and still is—run by subordinates. But Mr. Hopkins lives at the White House. There is none closer to the President than he. Though he does not function fully, he will stay. So highly does the President think of him that recently he considered making him the co-ordinator of the industrial part of his defense program.

THE reaction to that was so unfavorable that Mr. Roosevelt most unwillingly let it drop. Mr. Hopkins will not be the director of the industrial effort as at first planned. That job, against much disinterested advice, will be the President's own. But Mr. Hopkins will continue as Secretary of Commerce and Mr. Roosevelt's closest confidant and friend. When the Hopkins record, career and caliber are considered, the association is not reassuring. But nothing can be done about that.

TWILIGHT SEASON WILL OPEN THIS EVENING LOCALLY

GOOD OPPOSITION

Visitors Won Majority Of Their Games; Represent
Arsenal

At Landreth Ball Park, tonight at 6:15, the twilight baseball season will open with Landreth Seeds playing Frankford.

The visitors are reported to have a very good ball club. They represent the Frankford Arsenal in the Philadelphia Industrial League and have won the majority of their games.

Landreth's Seeds are traveling at a terrific clip. They lost the opening game to Millford, of the Eastern Shore League, 7 to 6, after an 11-inning struggle. Since then they have won six games in a row, playing teams which were supposed to be good, but with the exception of the Philadelphia Clowns, none of the visiting teams have been able to give the "farmers" much opposition, but it is hoped tonight that Frankford will really make the locals work for a victory.

There is no secret to the success of the Landreth Club. The reason for their great record to date is that the club is well-balanced. The pitching staff of Black, Carey and Heister is very good, and Broderick is by far the best catcher in this section. The regular infield, whether it be composed of Griggs, Liberatore, Debosky, Rossi or David, is a fast fielding and good hitting combination, and the outfield, composed of Breslin, Rockhill, Lodge and Miksis can all go get 'em and is a harder hitting outfield than any the visiting clubs bring here. Costello is a fine utility man and a great hitter. Billy Gallagher and Jerry Brucher are young pitchers who should do well in the future.

Tonight Sommers or Nolan will pitch for Frankford with Smith behind the plate. For Landreth, Carey will be on the mound with Broderick behind the bat. Game time, 6:15.

PIUMA AND BACHOFER IN A HURLING DUEL

CROYDON, June 5—In the best hurling duel of the season, Herm Piuma bested Pinky Bachofer to keep the Croydon Y. M. A. team in a deadlock with Voltz-Texaco for first place. Final tabulations were: Croydon, 2; Tullytown, 1.

In winning, Piuma allowed the Tullytown club but two hits and both came from the bat of Billy Leigh. The Y's made four hits off Bachofer but bunched two of these in the fifth to score both their tallies. Gige Dougherty had two out of three for the winners. Bachofer struck out six while Piuma had four strikeouts to his credit.

ST. LUKE'S NINE WINS BY FREE USE OF THEIR BAT

CORNWELLS, June 5—Batting the ball to all corners of the lot, the St. Luke's nine won its fourth consecutive victory in the Bristol Suburban League, swamping the Cornwells team, 18-3. Cornwells, which has not won a game, has dropped six straight.

Dave Ludwig and Jole Heftman led the St. Luke's team with the stick, Ludwig getting three out of four, and Heftman crashing out a home run and a triple. The winning aggregation made a total of 18 safe hits, all sharing in the glory with the exception of Leighton who left the game in the fifth inning.

Hague, the St. Luke's twirler, held the Cornwells outfit to three hits, fanning five batters.

BERRY KNOCKS OUT TRIPLE AND WINS FOR VOLTZ TEAM

A triple from the bat of Howie Berry gave the Voltz-Texaco team its fifth victory of the campaign last night on Leodon's field as they nosed out the Odd Fellows, 3-2, in a hard-fought tussle.

Berry's three-bagger came in the third frame with Fanni on base, and although it seemed not needed at the time, it proved to be the winning marker.

Until relieved by Cooper, Shackleton pitched good ball. He limited the Odds to three safe blows and fanned seven. When he weakened in the last inning and put two runners on base, he was yanked in favor of Cooper. Jim walked Morrell to load the sacks but Purcell struck out and Leo Hibbs fled out to end the game.

EDGELY WINS FOURTH STRAIGHT LEAGUE GAME

EDGELY, June 5—Wally Waldeck, Edgely A. A. team won its fourth straight contest in the Bristol Suburban League last night on its home field, whitewashing the Diamond nine, 8-0, before a large crowd. It was the third straight setback for the Diamonds.

Throwing them up for Edgely and doing a fine job of it was the bespectacled Stan Dick. Dick limited the Diamond boys to four lone bingles. Only in one frame, the sixth, did the boys from City Line succeed in getting more than one man on base.

A walk to Linck, an error by Haefner and a hit by Hunter gave the Edgelyites their start in the first, scoring two runs. Hunter again was the man of the hour in the third when he doubled to score another pair of tallies.

to the flag. Then with the lights in the theatre dimmed, an American flag was raised to the top of a pole erected in the rear of the center of the stage. A spot-light was directed on the flag which continued to wave from the top of the staff during the entire evening. The audience sang "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Morris Carter, class president, extended the greeting and outlined briefly the project which the class would present. The theme of the project was "The Americas." It dealt with the formation of the Pan-American Union.

Jane Lynch gave "The Historical Development of The Americas," Sarah Edlis, "The Pan-American Union," and Frank DiMoia "Developments in Inter-American Transportation and Communication." Another phase, "International Law and International Peace in The Americas," was the subject of Miss Anna Warwick.

The presentation of the project was brought to a finale by the introduction of 21 students, each representing one of the countries of Pan-America.

Miss Nancy Phillips read her essay, which was awarded first prize by the Mothers' Association.

Awards of the Fathers' Association were presented on behalf of the association by Dr. Frank Lehman. The following were the recipients:

A gold watch to Frank DeMoia for the boy making the highest average in the senior year.

A gold watch to Anna Warwick for the girl making the highest average in the senior year.

A prize of $5 to Jack Healey as that member of the senior class who displayed the best leadership in any of the major extra-curricular activities, athletics not included.

A prize of $5 to Dorothy Ritter as that member of the senior class who was a member of the Rambler staff, whose work in news writing has been outstanding during the present school year.

A prize of $5 to Daniel DiMidio as that boy of the senior class whose all-around activity in athletics has been of the greatest help to the school during the last four years.

A prize of $5 to Kenneth Winslow as that member of the senior class who has shown the greatest dependability in discharging responsibilities.

Mrs. William Borchers, president of the Mothers' Association, presented the awards from that organization, as follows:

A prize of $5 to Mary Elizabeth Finegan as the pupil in the seventh grade who was judged as being the best penman by three commercial teachers of the high school.

A prize of $5 to Anna Warwick (with honorable mention for Doris Sutton) as the girl in any class of the high school showing not only ability in athletics, but one who has proven herself a true sport. She participated in two major sports for girls, basketball and track.

A prize of $5 was awarded to each of the following for securing the highest average in a standardized test covering all the work in commercial subjects, Latin and French and mathematics, respectively: Florence New, Sarah Ellis, Frank Di Moia and Edward Budzyko.

Roy F. Fry, president of the Bristol Exchange Club, announced the following awards on behalf of that organization:

An award of $5 to Daniel Di Midio, senior boy who demonstrated the most progress, vocally or instrumentally, during their period of high school music participation; and who has thereby proven the most invaluable musician of his class. This award was also open for competition by girls.

A prize of $5 to John Brambley as the senior boy who merited it for all-around participation, co-operation and general high standards in all phases of the school's musical program. This was also open to competition by girls.

A supplemental award of $5 was given to Virginia Vetter for her co-operation and participation, and for competently discharging many of the less pleasant and less obvious duties concerning work in music.

Morris Carter, class president, presented the class gift of books, valued at $100, to the school library.

The graduates were presented to Warren P. Snyder, superintendent of schools, by David Hertzler, principal of the high school, as having completed their high school course and being eligible for their diplomas. The diplomas were presented by Mr. Snyder, assisted by Doron Green.

Gifts of appreciation were given a number of high school teachers. The gifts were presented by Morris Carter on behalf of the graduates, to: Miss Marion Harrison, Charles Boyd, Leroy Booth, David Hertzler, Charles Utz, Charles Quigley, Miss Gladys Hewitt and John Burris.

Angel Guillermo Dones Rosario, of Porto Rico, who for the past year has been studying at the Bristol high school, departed from the routine of the program as he, representing Cuba, in the Pan-American Union, prefaced his description of Cuba by expressing his thanks and appreciation to the public of Bristol and the faculty of the high school for permitting him and aiding him in pursuing his studies at the school here. He came to Bristol from Porto Rico one year ago. He had attended the high school in Porto Rico for three years and his credits at that institution were certified by the State Department of Education at Harrisburg. He took the last year course at Bristol High and graduated last night. He will return to Porto Rico today, enter the University of Porto Rico, and study law.

The high school chorus and the orchestra gave several selections under the direction of Charles Quigley, instructor in music. Certificates as members of the National Honor Society were presented to the members. Frank DeFelice gave a history of the society; Clara Ciarrabellini explained how the members are chosen, and Clementina Ciarrabellini told of the work of the organization. Jack Healey, president of the club, gave the certificates to the following: Jayne Lynch, Helen Harris, William Lynch, Frank DeFelice, Edward Budzyko, Pauline Greco, Doris Sutton, Clara Ciarrabellini, Anna Warwick, Sarah Ellis, Virginia Vetter, Clementina Ciarrabellini, Francis Kryven, Morris Carter and Kenneth Winslow.
